강의목표	This course is an introduction to the ways in which public policies get established, developed, and implemented, and to the frameworks and methods for policy analysis and evaluation. It is one of the required courses for public administration undergraduate majors. Students will also examine current public policy issues in Korea and those in other countries that have implications for Korean policies, and the ways that government has responded and currently respond to these issues.
교과목 해설	This course is designed to teach the general theories of public policy covering policy planning, policy making, implementation and analysis & evaluation. It discusses both overall picture of theories and practices of public policy for undergraduate students to grasp broad concept of public policy process in the public sector.
강의진행 방법	Students are expected to complete assigned readings before coming to class, and be prepared to discuss the material. Class attendance is required. Much of our hands-on learning and discussion occur during class, so please make it a priority to attend and be on time. Students will be allowed to miss one class. Attending the first class is particularly important in taking this course. Students who miss 1 or more classes without submitting an official document that support the student's absence will earn a reduction of 1 point per each absence from their final grades. Those who miss four or more absences will be required to have an individual meeting with the professor (the student is responsible for setting a meeting with the professor). Missing 6 or more classes may be grounds for automatic failure.
